1997 TZINGANA

🍷🍷🍷 (equivalent to 90-99/100)

The Tzingana '97 is a formidable wine. It derives from a blend of Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot and is produced by the owner Stak Aivaliotis, passionate about wine. The consultant is Giorgio Marone, a young and very competent Enologist, Giacomo Tachi's best pupil. Tzingana '97 has an impenetrable ruby color, scents of graphite and berries, is full-bodied, elegant and concentrates, with thick and velvety tannins. In a word, a marvelous wine. The only problem is, you better get a mortgage if you want to buy a bottle. Sassicaia, Solaia, La Vigna di Alceo, even Darmagi are all less expensive than Tzingana. Why? Daniele Cernilli
